

Carlisle, June 4.

* * * * * The subscribers for NEWTON'S LETTERS, are desired to call for the same, which is just come to hand, and will be delivered by Samuel Tait, school-master in Carlisle.

At the close of the Assizes on Sunday evening last, the Chief Justice previous to the discharging of the Jurors, observed that the attendance of the Jury-men during the whole Court have been remarkably punctual--that they had discovered great attention to the several causes which had undergone their investigation, and that their verdicts had done them much honour in every particular. He returned them the thanks of the whole Court in the politest manner, for their exemplary conduct, and discharged them with this handsome compliment, that the several Jurors had acquitted themselves in such a manner as would do honour to any County in the State.

This public testimonial we trust will be highly grateful to every good citizen, and particularly to those gentlemen, who have contributed their services in the honourable department of Jury-men during the Assizes.

There has been no instance, before or since the revolution, of so much business being done, and so many causes tried as at this Assizes--the charges of the Court were on every occasion clear, conspicuous and convincing. Universal satisfaction was given to the Jurors, the Auditors, and the Parties; and even those suitors, who failed were obliged to acknowledge the justice of the determination.

His Honour the Chief Justice set out early on Sunday morning for Philadelphia, and was escorted as far as Mr. Pollock's tavern, by a number of the most respectable citizens of this borough.

Same day the Hon. William Augustus Atlee, and George Bryan, Esquires, set out to hold a court at Chambersburgh, in Franklin county.

At a meeting of the subscribers to the Charity School, on the 21st of May, it was agreed to set aside that part of the original plan, which respects the negroes. It was also agreed, that such a number as the managers shall think proper, of FREE SCHOLARS, within the borough, shall be admitted to be taught the English language, under the direction of Mr. Tait, or any other teacher of said language in this place, with the approbation of the managers. The last appointed managers, are Dr. Davidson, and Messrs. John Montgomery, Ephraim Steel, William Lyon, and Alexander M'Keehan. It is hoped that many parents, unable to educate their children themselves, will embrace this opportunity of obtaining the aid of the benevolent. They are desired to apply to some of the managers in order to obtain admission.
